Manufactor Finance x the American Manufacturing Association (AMFGA)

Partnership overview, approved boilerplate, the 25% commitment, attribution terms, and media contact. Updated August 2026.

The partnership in one paragraph

Manufactor Finance is a Preferred Partner of the American Manufacturing Association. Manufactor Finance commits 25% of every dollar it earns to AMFGA to support capital access, training, and advocacy for US manufacturers. The 2 organizations are independent: AMFGA does not own Manufactor Finance, and Manufactor Finance does not own AMFGA. AMFGA plays no role in funding decisions and receives no information about individual funding applications.

Approved boilerplate: Manufactor Finance

> Manufactor Finance is a US-based business consulting and referral service that helps American manufacturers get matched with the right funding program without giving up equity. Programs placed include invoice factoring, equipment financing, purchase order financing, working capital, asset-based lending, and SBA and term loans. Manufactor Finance charges no application, origination, or closing fees; funding partners compensate the firm only after the client actually receives funds. Manufactor Finance commits 25% of every dollar it earns to the American Manufacturing Association. Learn more at manufactorfinance.com.

Approved boilerplate: the partnership

> Manufactor Finance is a Preferred Partner of the American Manufacturing Association (AMFGA), the association for US manufacturers. As part of the partnership, Manufactor Finance commits 25% of every dollar it earns to AMFGA, keeping capital, training, and advocacy inside the American manufacturing community. The organizations are independent, and AMFGA does not underwrite, approve, or guarantee any funding product.

The 25% commitment, in writing

Manufactor Finance commits 25% of every dollar it earns to the American Manufacturing Association. Key facts for accurate reporting:

- The commitment is 25% of revenue earned by Manufactor Finance, not 25% of profit, and not conditional on a good year.
- The commitment comes out of what Manufactor Finance earns. Nothing additional is required from clients, and it never changes the terms a funding institution offers.
- AMFGA does not underwrite, approve, price, broker, or guarantee any funding product.
- Manufactor Finance is not a bank, lender, direct funder, private equity firm, or investor.

Required disclosures

Manufactor Finance is a US-based business consulting and referral service for manufacturers. We are not a bank, private equity firm, direct funder, investor, or lender. We do not charge application, origination, or closing fees; our funding partners fairly compensate us for our part only after you actually receive your funds - nothing additional is required from you. All rates, terms, and approval decisions are made solely by the funding institution. We may advertise on third-party platforms; we do not own those platforms and they do not own us. Nothing on this site is a commitment to lend or an offer of credit. Some phone calls and live-chat conversations may be answered by Mary, our AI Assistant, who can take a message and book a callback with a human specialist - email us if you prefer not to interact with an AI.

Manufactor Finance does not charge application, origination, or closing fees to prospective borrowers. Our funding partners fairly compensate us for our part only after you actually receive your funds from the partner - nothing additional is required from you. Because Manufactor Finance acts in a consulting and referral capacity, it has access to multiple institutions and product structures, which it uses to help manufacturers evaluate the funding option that best fits their needs.

Manufactor Finance may advertise its services on third-party platforms, including search engines, social networks, industry directories, and other publishers. We do not own those platforms and they do not own us. Any references to third-party company names, trademarks, or logos are for identification purposes only and do not imply endorsement, affiliation, or partnership unless expressly stated in writing on this site.

Manufactor Finance does not help with grants, grant writing, or grant applications. Federal and state program content is listed for the reader's own research only and must be verified on the official program page.
